

AIIMS Bhopal

All India Institute of Medical Sciences Bhopal (AIIMS Bhopal) is a premier medical body and Institute of National Importance, located in the Saket Nagar, Bhopal, Madhya Pradesh, India. It is one of the Institutes of National Importance (INI) established by the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MoHFW) under the Pradhan Mantri Swasthya Suraksha Yojna (PMSSY) in 2012.

Telemedicine: The delivery of health care services, where distance is a critical factor, by all health care professionals using information and communication technologies for the exchange of valid information for diagnosis, treatment and prevention of disease and injuries, research and evaluation, and for the continuing education of health care providers, all in the interests of advancing the health of individuals and their communities.'

Telemedicine Guidelines

Government of India along with Telemedicine society of India (TSI) has developed a new telemedicine guideline for the health care services through telemedicine by Registered medical practitioners. The purpose of new telemedicine guidelines is to give practical advice to doctors so that all services and models of care used by doctors and health workers are encouraged to consider the use of telemedicine as a part of normal practice. These guidelines will assist the medical practitioner in pursuing a sound course of action to provide effective and safe medical care founded on current information, available resources, and patient needs to ensure patient and provider safety.

Partners: AIIMS Bhopal will organise this training program along with Telemedicine Society of India, Madhya Chapter.
